

Mysterious Map from Meridianas

Bellesera and Maidens alike were summoned by Ambassador Andora yesterday afternoon after a letter from Princess Leisaura was received. This letter requested that a group of Captivenians be sent to investigate reports from the Northern region of Meridianas (a village called Borealton). The Princess, due to other matters of state, expressed her regrets on not being able to do so herself, but that she had no doubt in the abilities of the maidens of Captivenia performing such a task.

Lady Amalyah, with the assistance of the Messengers and Maidens of Captivenia, went through a portal into Meridianas. Upon arrival, the destitute conditions of the Stronghold shocked those on the mission. No one was willing to talk and pulled away in fear when anyone tried to approach them. The guards of the town pushed the Captivenians out, because they "did not want their aid." As they were leaving a woman forced a satchel into the hands of one of the Messengers, saying to "find them before he does" before running off back to the town. Upon opening the satchel, the girls found an ancient box. Revealed within was a small piece of a map. And as this reporter knows, where there is a map, there is probably treasure...

Weather

Today looks to be a little cooler, with the temperature climbing as high as 16 degrees Celsius. Thunderstorms are a strong possibility again on this fine day. A friendly reminder to all readers that it is important to dress for the weather and to drink plenty of water! Also, a request has been made by Lord Valerian and his men down by the encampment for heavy rain, so they can safely light a fire once again. Rangers, Guardians, and even Duxarium get cold too!

Maloch Banished into Portal

You read that right folks, Reth Maloch (father of Reth “Possessor of the Man Bun” Caedus) showed his face (well technically he was in a mask) last evening at the Weeping Arbor. Maloch appeared through a portal along with a valgray. Lord Valerian emerged to fight him, but the Lady Illyria intervened saying there was “another way”. Illyria raised a lantern bearing the Light of the King, which revealed the state of Maloch’s soul.

This distraction allowed Valerian to banish him from Captivenia once more, and the Lady Illyria asked the King to seal the passage so that the enemy may never use it again. It was revealed also that Lady Illyria, along with being the first female Duxarium to declare the King as creator, also wears the sacred mantle of protection woven by the Queen herself.

That brought us to the end of an exciting evening and sleep was much needed. Sally (a maiden) said, “Could you please stop talking to me... You’re being kind of nosy” when asked her opinion on the whole situation.

1 Peter 2:9

“But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God’s special possession, that you may declare the praises of him who has called you out of darkness into his marvellous light.”

Classifieds

Lost: Dignity. If found, please return to Reth Maloch.

Looking for: Wife. Preferably with all of her teeth in tact, ability to cook, sew, and work ideal, contact Grog for more details.

To the Lady who stole my dragon and gave it away... How dare you... Steve was my favourite... please give him back...~Francis Full-of-French-People.

Available: Etiquette lesson now offered by Lady Celestria. If you feel you are in need, please sign up. You know who you are.

Wanted: Sticks, not stones. As a result of certain events over the past years, Captivenians have grown weary of searching for stones. Therefore, it is our humble request that we turn our attention to the sticks of the realm.